

Dear Valued Client,

At Bye, Goff & Rohde, our first and top concern has always been the health and welfare of our clients. Because of this, we want to provide you with an update as to what we are doing in response to the COVID-19 (Coronavirus) situation.

We will continue to prosecute your case and work tirelessly to get you the justice you deserve. At the same time, we are also obligated to make sure we do our part to confront this virus and prevent its spread within our office and the community. We are equipped with the latest technology to work remotely on your cases, field your calls and address your concerns. Please speak with your attorney or their staff before coming into the office as we are reducing the number of people that will be physically in the office in any given day. We are always available by phone, email, text or live chat and we are immediately equipped to handle new clients who need our help.

We remain committed to the cause of justice and believe it's our duty to practice safe behavior now in order to take on this unprecedented threat. We ask that you all remain safe and stay in contact with us. We look forward to the passage of these unusual circumstances and appreciate your willingness to participate with us in addressing this challenge. As the situation evolves, we will publish updates on our social media channels and website.

If you have any questions or concerns, please reach out and we will be happy to speak with you.

Sincerely,

Steve Goff

Attorney/Managing Partner
